

Congratulations Graduates!

The Nova Scotia School for Adult Learning (NSSAL) is celebrating its seventh year of providing tuition-free educational opportunities for adults.

Colleen is one of over 400 Nova Scotians who graduated this year with the High School Graduation Diploma for Adults. Congratulations Colleen and all NSSAL graduates.

The Department of Labour and Workforce Development and the Department of Education would like to thank all of their partners: the Department of Community Services, Service Canada, community learning organizations, regional school boards, Nova Scotia Community College and Université Sainte-Anne.

"If I were to pass on one thing to adults considering returning to school, it would be to take one small step and either make the call or go to talk to staff in the program. You will never regret taking that first step."

NSSAL supports 140 programs across the province.
