

Save Energy. Save Money.

Look for this symbol at a participating home improvement store near you.

Conserve Nova Scotia, the provincial government's energy efficiency agency, wants to help home owners in Nova Scotia save energy and money this winter, and all year-round.

If you're planning on making your home more energy efficient, look for this symbol at a participating home improvement store near you to identify products that could help you access up to $6,500 in federal and provincial rebates under the Nova Scotia EnerGuide for Houses/ecoENERGY program.*

Cut your energy bill by up to 30 per cent and help reduce up to 4.6 tonnes of greenhouse gas emissions.

More than 7,000 Nova Scotians are already saving energy and money and doing their part to help the environment. You can too. Get started today. Book your EnerGuide for Houses evaluation.

* If you are a homeowner with a net single income less than $25,000/year, or a net family income less than $40,000/year, Conserve Nova Scotia will rebate the full cost of your EnerGuide evaluation and you will qualify for an additional $400 grant.

To find a certified EnerGuide for Houses evaluator near you, for a list of participating retailers or for more information on this program and other energy efficiency programs, rebates and incentives at Conserve Nova Scotia, please call the toll-free EnerInfo line at 1-800-670-4636 or visit conservens.ca
