Introduction

This report presents data from Nova Scotia Health Authority (NSHA) and the IWK Health Centre (IWK) related to emergency department (ED) closures between April 1, 2019 – March 31, 2020.

Government and NSHA continue to work collaboratively to improve access to quality health care in Nova Scotia. Investments in several key initiatives are helping to ensure Nova Scotians have access to the care they need, when they need it.

A new contract with the province's doctors will help improve recruitment and retention, as well as access for Nova Scotians. The agreement makes emergency department doctors in Nova Scotians the highest paid in the region. An increase in the number of seats for nurse practitioner and physician training at Dalhousie University will ensure we can train more of these medical professionals here at home. Additionally, an emergency department locum program for doctors has helped keep EDs open. And continued progress on the QEII New Generation and Cape Breton Regional Municipality Health Care Redevelopment projects are making our health care system stronger.

Continued support and investment in physician recruitment efforts includes a new fund to support innovative community efforts to attract and keep doctors. An expanded clerkship program for medical students offers on-the-job training in family medicine in rural communities, and a new Practice Ready Assessment Program helps internationally trained family doctors work in Nova Scotia. Government continues to collaborate with nurses, pharmacists and paramedics to enable them to work to their full scopes of practice, giving Nova Scotians more options to access the care they need.

Government is committed to continuing this important work with its partners. That commitment remains, especially considering the ongoing COVID-19 global pandemic. On March 22, 2020, the Province declared a state of emergency and introduced a range of public health measures to help stop the spread of COVID-19, including changes to how some health services were delivered.

Responsibilities and Accountabilities

The Annual Accountability Report on Emergency Departments for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2020, is prepared pursuant to Section 6 of the Emergency Department Accountability Act (2014). This Act requires the Nova Scotia Health Authority and the IWK Health Centre report on all emergency department closures, hold public consultations in communities that have experienced a pattern of ongoing closures, and report on the outcomes of those consultations directly to the Minister of Health and Wellness.

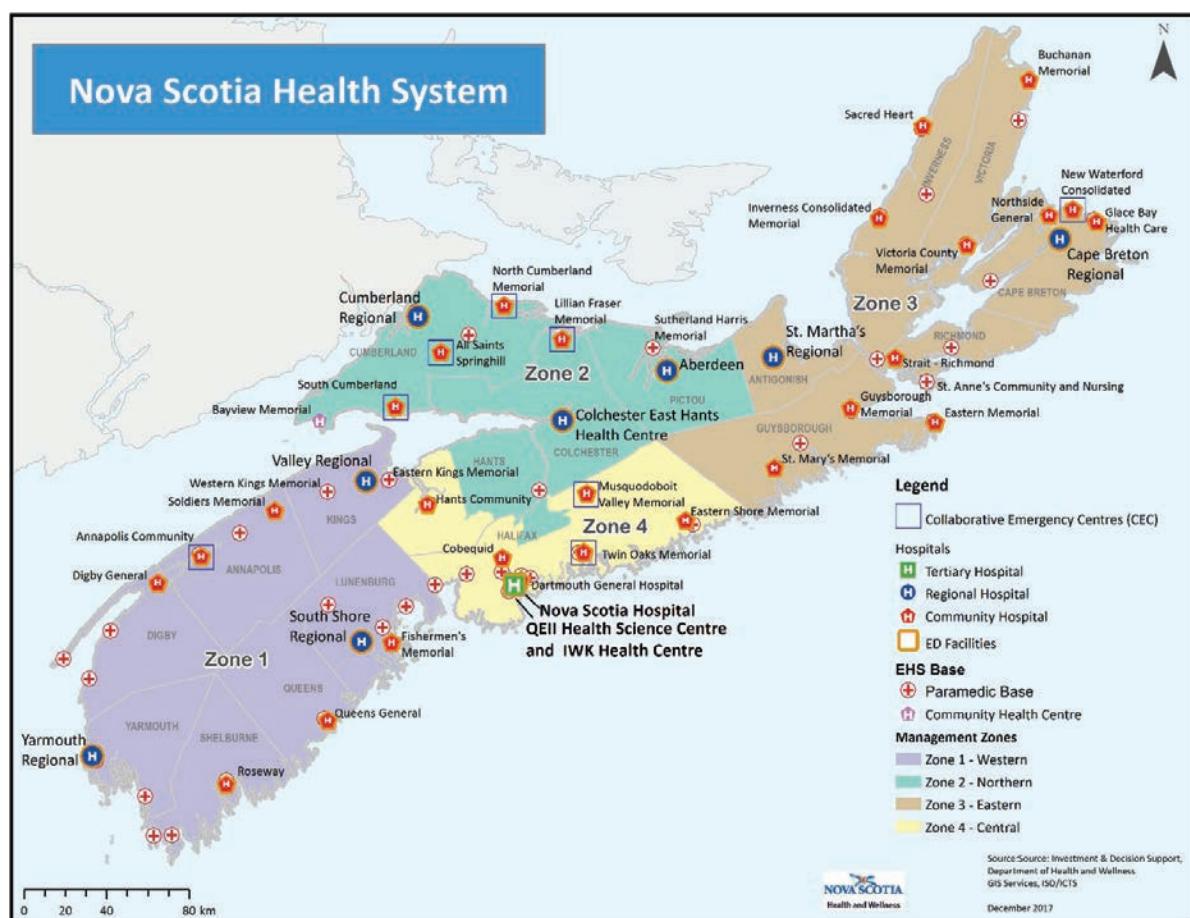

Some hospitals in the province have established hours of operation that are different than 24/7. These are considered scheduled hours of closure and were established after consultation with communities. In 2019–20, 22 hospitals experienced temporary closures as a result of emergency department staff (nurses, physicians or paramedics) unavailability.

Emergency Care in Nova Scotia

Emergency departments (EDs) and their staff are an essential part of the province's healthcare system, quickly assessing and managing patients with unexpected illness or injury.

Most of Nova Scotia's 38 emergency departments operate on a 24/7 schedule, except for seven that have established different hours of operation after consultation with communities. These facilities are considered to have scheduled hours of closure. Unplanned emergency department closures are considered temporary closures. Typically, these closures are due to unavailability of emergency department staff (doctors, nurses, or paramedics).

Twenty-two community hospitals experienced temporary closures in 2019–20.

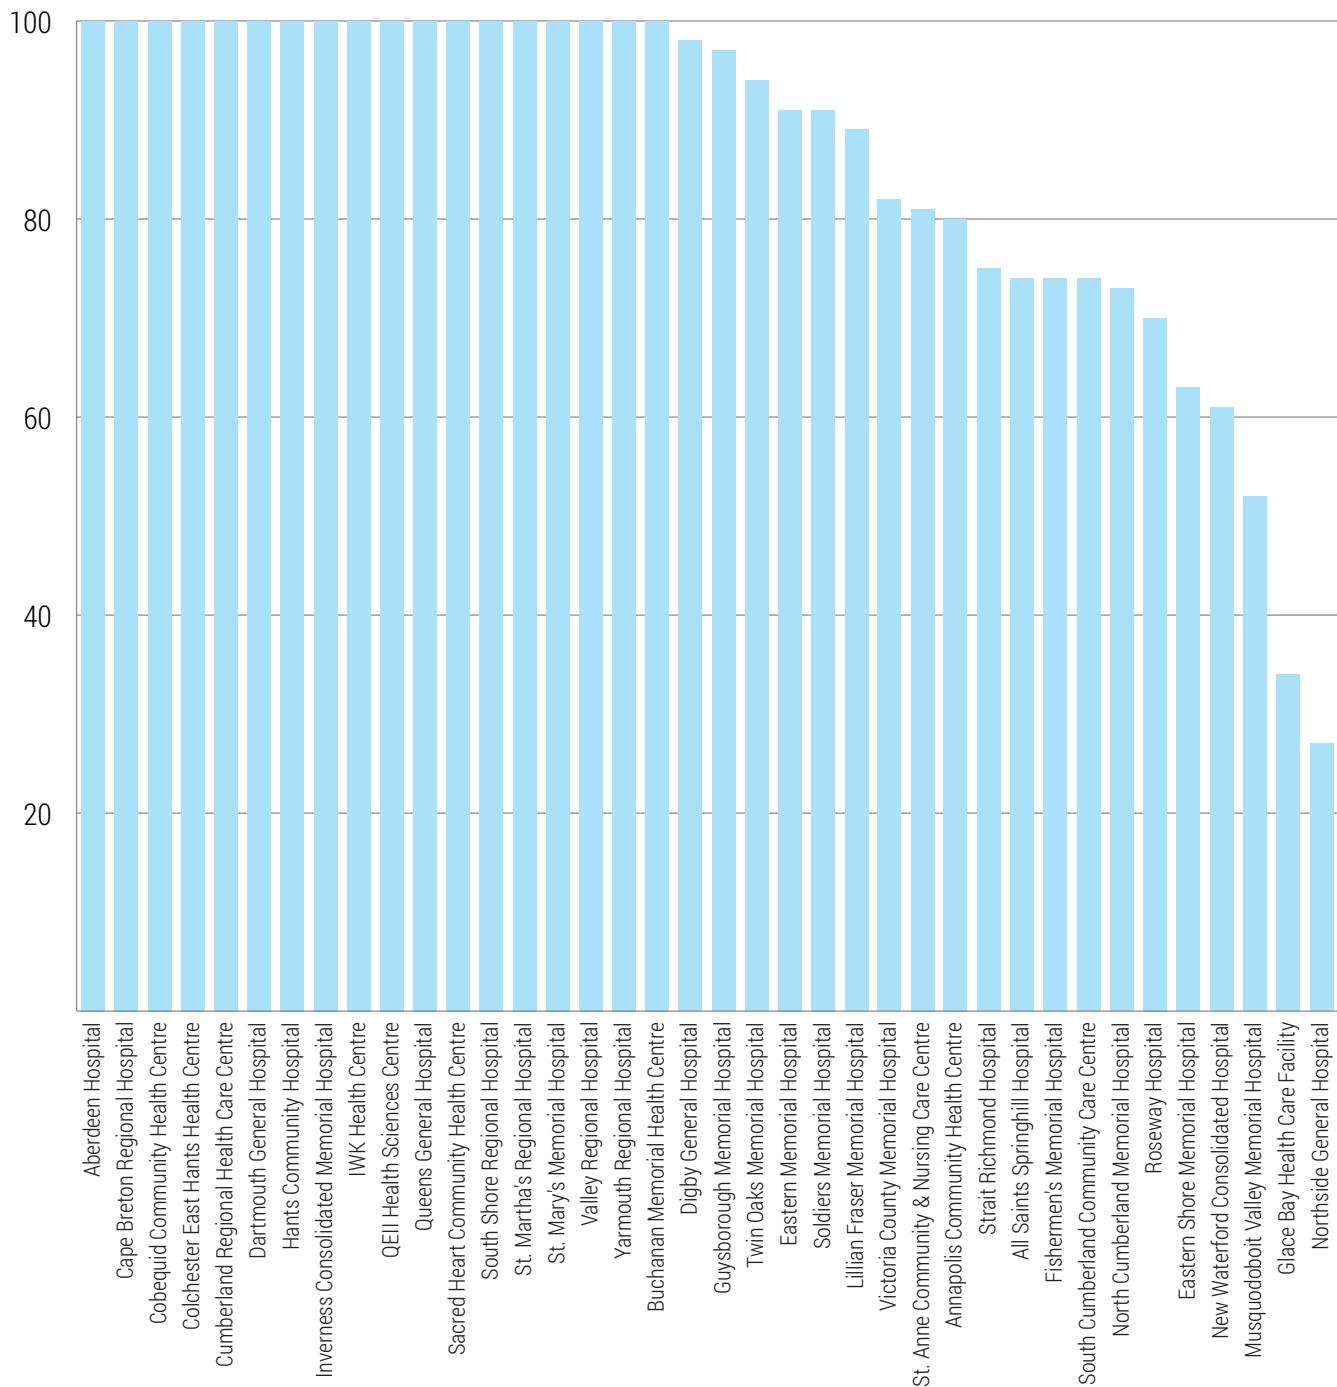

Most temporary closures occur in smaller, rural emergency departments. Tertiary care (IWK Health Centre and QEII Health Sciences Centre) and regional hospital emergency departments are required to be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year. In community hospitals, when an ED has experienced an ongoing pattern of closures, the health authority consults with the local community to address concerns and identify a course of action. More information on consultations held in 2019–20 is included in this report.

In CBRM staffing has been a challenge with multiple emergency departments within 30 minutes of each other. The CBRM Health Care Redevelopment project will improve the situation with new facilities and better organizing the provision of care across the region.

Emergency Department Closures

Percentage of Scheduled Hours Open for Emergency Departments, 2019–20

Hours of Operation and Collaborative Emergency Centres

Nova Scotia's emergency care system includes two tertiary care hospitals (QEII and IWK); nine regional hospitals; 19 community hospitals with emergency departments; eight collaborative emergency centres, and a 24/7/365 emergency health services (EHS) system. In addition, the province has a telecare service (811) to provide nursing advice and help callers determine the most appropriate level of care for their needs, and a mobile mental health line to support people in crisis.

Facility Type	Scheduled hours of operation
QEII and IWK	24/7
Regional hospital	24/7
Community hospital	Varies by facility
Collaborative Emergency Centre	Varies by facility
911 Emergency Health Services	24/7
811 Nurse Telecare	24/7
Mobile crisis line	24/7

Regional hospitals are required to maintain a 24/7, year-round schedule, and every effort is made to maintain a 24/7, year-round schedule for community hospitals with emergency departments.

CHANGES TO SCHEDULED HOURS IN 2019–20

On September 29, 2019, the New Waterford Consolidated Hospital closed its emergency department to complete renovations required by the local fire marshal.

During the first several months of 2020, the province worked collaboratively with NSHA to plan and prepare for health service delivery across the province during the anticipated COVID-19 pandemic. This included the consolidation of various emergency services, as well as model of care enhancements at various emergency departments to ensure Nova Scotians had access to emergency care when needed.

COLLABORATIVE EMERGENCY CENTRES

Collaborative Emergency Centres (CECs) were designed to provide access to primary health care with same-day or next-day appointments with expanded hours and a team approach to care. During nighttime hours, most CECs have a collaborative care team available made up of paramedics and/or registered nurses who are supported by an Emergency Health Services (EHS) physician providing oversight via phone consultation. There are eight CECs across the province.

South Cumberland Community Care Centre	Parrsboro	24/7 year-round
All Saints Springhill Hospital	Springhill	24/7 year-round

Lillian Fraser Memorial Hospital	Tatamagouche	Daily (7 days/week) Monday – Friday, 8:00 am – 4:00 pm and Saturday – Sunday, 8:00 am – 8:00 pm

Beginning in early 2020, in an effort to proactively respond to changing conditions and enhance the system's ability to respond during the COVID-19 pandemic, the roles of various collaborative emergency centres were modified to better align available resources with care needs.

 New Waterford Consolidated closed in September 2019 for renovations

It should be noted that regional hospitals in Amherst, Truro and New Glasgow provide emergency care 24/7. Emergency Health Services (EHS) diverted ambulances to the three regional emergency departments in support of ED model changes in Cumberland County, due to COVID-19.
