

Office of the Superintendent of Insurance

Bulletin 03-2022

Temporary Adjuster Licensing – Damage from storm Fiona

Extension of term from 60 to 120 days

November 7, 2022

This notice is to advise all insurers and adjusting firms operating in Nova Scotia of a decision to extend temporary adjuster licenses for those originally approved for a 60-day term. These licenses were approved to address the high volume of claims resulting from the storm Fiona.

Due to the extensive damage and ongoing work still required, the Nova Scotia Superintendent has determined it is necessary to extend the temporary adjuster licenses from 60 days to 120 days. This new date will start from the initial approval date for those adjusters approved to address claims resulting from the storm Fiona.

For those who have already received temporary licensing under this program, there is no need to submit further documentation or contact our office as the extension will happen automatically. Nova Scotia will cease to accept temporary adjuster licenses effective November 15, 2022.

Should you have any questions or concerns regarding this bulletin, do not hesitate to contact Jennifer Calder directly at 902-424-4987 or by email at Jennifer.Calder@NovaScotia.ca