

Stop Hitchhiking Critters!

RABIES IN NOVA SCOTIA is limited to the strain that is transmitted by bats.

However, it only takes the entrance of one raccoon with rabies to rapidly spread the virus to other wildlife and household pets in Nova Scotia.

If you have picked up a raccoon somewhere along your travels, please keep the animal in the back of the truck and contact the local Department of Natural Resources to have the animal contained.

You can help control the spread of rabies in Nova Scotia.

Public Health Services