

EVIDENCE OF PARENTAGE

- I am entitled to claim support for the child named below.
- I ask the Court to declare that the respondent is a parent of the child:

Full name of child (Last, First, Middle)	Child's Date of Birth (day, month, year)

Presumptions of Parentage

I claim that the respondent is a parent of the child because (check all that apply):

- the claimant and respondent were married to each other, or in a registered civil union, at the time of the child's birth;
- the marriage of the claimant and respondent ended by a Court judgment or a divorce order within 300 days before the birth of the child;
- the claimant and respondent married each other after the child was born, and the respondent said he is the father;
- the respondent has said, in writing, that he is the father of the child (copy attached);
- the respondent is registered as the father of the child on the birth registration or Vital Statistics records (copy attached);
- the claimant and respondent lived together as a couple when the child was born, or the child was born within 300 days of the end of the relationship. The claimant and respondent had lived together for approximately _____(months) _____(years);
- the claimant did not have sexual intercourse with any other man during the time 30 days before to 30 days after the date the child was conceived;
- a genetic test was done to establish parentage - it shows the respondent is a parent of the child (copy attached);
- the respondent is not a biological parent of the child, but has acted as a parent to the child for approximately _____(months) _____(years). Attached is a written explanation of how the Respondent acted as a parent to the child.

- I believe the respondent will agree with a finding of parentage; or
- I believe the respondent may dispute parentage of the child - I attach Form D and additional documents to support my claim that the respondent is (or acted as) a parent of the child.

This document is attached to, and forms part of the evidence in, my support application/support variation application:
