

Disclaimer for Water Quality Information:

Nova Scotia Environment makes no representations or warranties on the accuracy or completeness of the information provided.

These data are preliminary. Subsequent quality assurance and verification procedures may result in differences between what is currently provided and what will become the official record.

Those who use this data should do so with caution and must accept full responsibility for any subsequent information, results or reports produced through its use.